It is that time of the year again when the annual church budget meetings start and we start to determine how best the church must steward the money and resources God has given to you. My prayer is for God to grant you wisdom in this endeavor. As a church you must ensure that your money is invested in God-glorifying kingdom-building work, not in personal preferences or the whim decision of the majority. One of the greatest distinctions of Southern Baptist work is our cooperative effort. The unified efforts we have put forth in our short history have had remarkable results across the globe. When you give to your local association you invest in the work being done in the community around you, support your sister churches, and combine with them in covering your very own area with the Gospel witness. When you give to the MBCB you are broadening kingdom investment to cover our state and further, even to the ends of the Earth.

Here is a look at what giving to the Cooperative Program through MBCB funds looks like:

I believe it is still the best way for a church to make their cooperative gifts, the same way an individual tither might make to their own church. Make the decision to give a set percentage of everything you bring in through the church offerings so that you can make regular gifts. Then, as occasions arise and the Spirit leads, you can give additional special gifts. The Cooperative Program is the heart of Southern Baptist Missions & Ministries.

So, as you prepare to align your budget with God's mission, remember that to partner with your local Association and State convention is a wise stewardship that will help us to keep making disciple-making disciples and see South Mississippi become known for the name of Jesus Christ.

Missions Discipleship: A Strong Foundation for a Church on Mission
Jesus left His church with a mission – to share the gospel message and be a personal witness to the mighty works of God as we go about our daily lives. From our own families and those in our neighborhoods to homes in foreign lands, people need to hear the gospel. How can we establish a gospel-centered culture in our churches that fosters a love for the mission to which we are called? Consider Missions Discipleship. Missions Discipleship teaches the WHY and the HOW of missions. With curriculum for preschool–adult, your entire church body can be inspired to live a lifestyle of being on mission for Jesus. Please contact me for more information and some free resources to help you get started.
